SHE'S GOT IT ALL: PASSION, DETERMINATION, AND A LACK OF OPPORTUNITIES FOR HIGH-LEVEL PLAY.

Girls may begin playing baseball when they're very young, but soon find their opportunities in the sport dwindling. With a lack of funding, few competitions, and no women's teams at all in the Olympics, the Pan Am Games, or the Canada Summer Games, these athletes can't strive as their male counterparts do for excellence in the sport they love.
